

ABSTRACT

A method of doing business on the world wide web, and an illustrated and documented web site, that provides information and resources for the repair of various devices where a user can mouse click on a particular illustrated part and have displayed on or more manufacturers and model numbers for the desired part and, with further click(s) can order the part from the manufacturer or from an after market supplier.

5

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY